

REMARKS

A replacement copy of the new drawings, specification and claims should address all of the formalities stated by the examiner. The applicant has fixed all of the call outs.

A new set of claims is being presented that has been substantially rewritten for clarity sake.

Also, the missing elements in the drawings have been added. For example, the locking pin 350 has been added to figure 4.

The specification had some ambiguous usage of the word 'bore' with errors in call out number usage, but the new specification has clarified between the bore for the filter located in the top part of the canister and the bottom bore located on the bottom part of the canister.
